WAITSFIELD

Doings in Town on Memorial Day—Rev. H. C. Ledyard, Speaker.

Memorial day was celebrated by fitting pre-Memorial exercises in the various schools in town on Thursday afternoon.

On Memorial day the graves of soldiers were duly decorated in the morning. On the school campus, the Waitsfield and Moretown town teams had a ball game, score 9 to 8 in favor of Waitsfield. At 12 to 12:05 m., the bells were tolled. At 1:30, the members of Ainsworth post, No. 36, Dept. of Vermont G. A. R., escorted by the Waitsfield cornet band, marched from G. A. R. hall to I. O. O. F. hall, where the exercises of the day were held. Prayer was offered by Rev. C. M. Redstone, pastor of the Methodist church. Lincoln's Gettysburg address was given by Dwight Joslin, Gen. Logan's first order for Memorial day was given by Clarence Bisbee; Mrs. C. M. Redstone sang, "The Star Spangled Banner." The children of the village primary school decorated with flowers a monument in memory of those soldiers, who are buried in unmarked and unknown graves. The address of the day was by Rev. H. C. Ledyard, pastor of the Universalist church of Northfield.

It was interesting and appealing, urging us to show the same fidelity in the present warfare for life, as the soldiers showed in the warfare for freedom.

At the close of the exercises in I. O. O. F. hall, the band escorted the veterans to the new Joslyn Memorial library, where with suitable exercises, the corner stone was laid. Rev. C. M. Redstone offered prayer and Rev. W. A. Remle made the dedicatory speech, expressing the town's gratitude to the donor, George Joslyn of Omaha, Nebraska, and urging the right and best use of the library. The corner stone was laid by Z. H. McAllister of the G. A. R. and postmaster for more than twenty years. The corner stone contained a sealed box in which among other things were old money, money, town report of 1912, account of the centennial in 1880, and the address given on that occasion by Walter A. Jones, M. D., account of Old Home week and address given by Matt B. Jones on that occasion. The Waitsfield cornet band gave a band concert after these exercises. On the school campus, the Waitsfield village grammar school and Moretown village grammar school ball teams had a game, resulting in a score of 10 to 8 in favor of Waitsfield; and the ladies of the Home circle served ice cream and cake to about 250 people in the vestries of the Congregational church.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Kinsbury, Rev. and Mrs. W. A. Remle, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Richardson, and Mrs. J. D. Davis attended the Choral union concert in Montpelier last week.

On Thursday, the staging on the Joslyn Memorial library fell, letting seven men and a large stone fall. Robert Niell and Stuart Ferris were hurt, but no bones were broken.

Mrs. R. L. Joslin was called to Burlington Friday by the critical illness of her father, J. G. Lewis.

Mr. and Mrs. William Martin of Northfield are visiting Mrs. Lester Smith.

Henry Miner, who has been in town the last month, returned Saturday to his home in Montpelier.

Miss Louise Gleason came home from Montpelier for Memorial day and Sunday.

Earle Baird came home from the state agricultural school in Randolph, Thursday, for over Sunday.

At dinner at the Waitsfield house, Memorial day, there were forty-one persons served.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Brown of Burlington spent Memorial day and week-end at A. W. Bigelow's.

MONTPELIER

All grangers remember that the next meeting will occur on Wednesday evening, June 4th, and with a class of probably eight to work into the first and second degrees, a profitable and enjoyable time is anticipated. Every person eligible is earnestly requested to come.

Far Western Babies Are the Best.

The Woman's Home Companion is carrying forward its fight for "better babies" by offering prizes for the best babies exhibited at the new kind of baby shows. At this new baby show, which is being held this year in various parts of the country, children are judged, not for their beauty, but for their health.

At a recent show in Oregon, cups were won by Robert Chauncey Bishop, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey Bishop of Salem, Ore., and Henrietta Bishop, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Bishop of the same city. These two prize winners had the same great-grandparents. With respect to these two children, the article continues:

"Robert was nearly three years old when he became the champion boy of Oregon. He had been breast-fed at regular intervals, and slept in a room with wide-open windows. He comes of a long-lived family. Two grandmothers, three great-grandmothers, two grandfathers and one great-grandfather were living to applaud his triumph. His score was 98."

"Henrietta outclassed her small relative by just half a point. Her score was 95."

"All the prize winners showed a preponderance of foreign blood, and 90 per cent. had been breast-fed until six months old or more. As a whole, the Oregon babies passed the hundred per cent. standard established in the score cards supplied by the Iowa physicians. All through the far West, children are heavier, taller and farther advanced than babies of the same age in the East or middle West."

LESS BOWEL TROUBLE IN BARRE

Barre people have found out that A SINGLE DOSE of simple buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., as compounded in Adler-ika, the German bowel and stomach remedy, relieves constipation, sour stomach or gas on the stomach INSTANTLY. This simple mixture became famous by curing appendicitis, and it draws off a surprising amount of old, foul matter from the body. It is wonderful how QUICKLY it helps. C. H. ### MAGAZINE REVIEW

A Mother's Preparations for Her Babies.

In the June Woman's Home Companion appears an article entitled "Better Babies Everywhere," showing what is being done through the United States in carrying forward a movement for the improvement of children. In various parts of the country, baby shows of the new sort are being held. At these shows, children are judged, not for their beauty, but according to their physical condition.

Suggestions are given to mothers which enable them to improve the health of their children. In the course of the article in the June Companion a mother tells as follows about her preparation for the birth of her child:

"Not having very good health, I realized that I must work for the constitution I would give my boy. Before he was born I kept in mind that he must be well cared for, before and after birth. He had a right to the best possible start I could give him. So I took a great deal of exercise in the fresh air, slept outdoors as much as possible and lived on as simple a diet as I could arrange without actually denying myself. I drank much pure cold water and ate coarse flour breads. Every day I lay down at least an hour and relaxed completely, and I tried very hard not to let things fret or worry me. I tried to hold good thoughts of everything and everybody. The regime that I never could have endured for myself alone came easily for the sake of the little life God was sending me."

"As soon as I was strong enough to handle Rex, after he was born, I massaged him daily after his bath; rubbed him all over. Then as soon as he was old enough to use his limbs I would put a thick pad on the table after his bath and massage, and give him gymnastic exercises. After he was weaned his diet was very simple. I never romped with him before he went to bed, which was at 7 o'clock. He always gets up early and has acquired the habit of drinking a half glass of water the first thing after rising. His cheeks are still like two full blown roses; and, despite the fact that he has what is called a delicate mother, he has never given us an anxious moment on the score of health. "If better babies contests do no more than show unthinking mothers what scientific methods, regular habits and the right start can do for a baby, they will have performed a great mission."

Fun for Five Dollars a Week.

In the June Woman's Home Companion several contributors tell how they took their vacations—economically and attractively. Many practical suggestions are made. Following is an account of vacation planned and taken by eight school teachers:

"We are eight girl school teachers, and we rented a log cabin on the third ridge of a mountain in Vermont at one hundred dollars for the entire season. It had five rooms comfortably furnished with enough beds, tables, chairs, rockers, a couch, oil stoves, some kitchen utensils, rough dishes, plenty of hooks and shelves; but best of all was the open fireplace. We brought trunks, containing the needed amount of clothing, linen, pillows and blankets, and with a few curtains, college pennants, etc., we made our little 'summer home' quite attractive."

"We learned of a nearby farm where we were able to purchase eggs, butter, home-made bread, pastry, etc. We got our own breakfasts, gathered our own berries and bought sugar, coffee, etc., from the village in quantities. "On the ridge below us was a larger log cabin where they kept boarders. Here we had our 'big meal' once a day (at noon). They charged twenty-five cents—but we had a regular dinner. In the evening we 'fixed up' our own tea."

"Sometimes we got up at 5 a. m. and took long tramps. We made it a point to take a nap if for only a half hour every afternoon, either in hammocks or on a blanket in the spacious porch."

"Through the acquaintance of some young people (made at the boarding house and surrounding cabins) we received invitations to play tennis, attend camp fires, or go rowing, and we, in turn, gave little twilight parties around the burning logs."

"Here are the approximate figures for our expenses:

Eight Girls for Two Months	One Girl's Expenses for Two Months
Rent ..... $100	$12.50
Dinner at 25c ..... 125 (63 times, 25c) .. 15.75
Rig hired 5 times at 22 ..... 110	1.25
Groceries ..... 44	8.50
Miscellaneous, cards, stamps, and fare for one girl ..... 18.00
	$45.90
